

Genpact and TurnKey Solutions Announce Global Alliance to Deliver Automated Testing Solutions for Oracle® E-Business Suite Customers

Alliance offers significant cost benefits to Global 2000 businesses by automating functional & regression testing efforts

NEW YORK, NY and DENVER, Col. (October 19, 2006) – Genpact, a global provider of high-quality business and technology services and member of the Oracle PartnerNetwork, announced today it has formed a global alliance with TurnKey Solutions, a leading provider of automated ERP testing software and member of the Oracle PartnerNetwork, to jointly provide effective testing automation solutions for Oracle® E-Business Suite customers.

Under the alliance, Genpact will implement TurnKey’s pre-defined, pre-configured testing scripts against a wide range of Oracle module families including Financials, HR Management, Manufacturing, Order Management, and Projects. It will automate functional and regression testing efforts, thus increasing customers’ confidence in patching, upgrade and go-live 11i rollouts and delivering significant cost benefits.

“Our customers should benefit greatly from the synergies of Genpact and TurnKey working together,” said Bruce R. Huebner, CEO of TurnKey Solutions. “The ability exists now to really evolve how timely and expensive ‘Conference Room Pilots’ are managed. As a result of deploying these automated technologies, we’ve seen a significant drop off in the number of functional business users and technical engineers required to meet ever-more demanding testing lifecycle deadlines. With this automation deployed, customers no longer have to wait for the application to be ready prior to testing.”

With 26,000 process and IT associates, Genpact currently serves all six of GE’s businesses and an additional 18 Global 2000 customers. Genpact, a Certified Partner in the Oracle PartnerNetwork, is one of the world’s largest Oracle E-Business solutions providers with over 3,000 associates implementing, supporting and using Oracle E-Business Suite to manage business processes.

“Our alliance with TurnKey will bring tremendous benefits to our global customers including our ability to improve total testing coverage and cycle times,” said Jay Paluch, vice president of Testing and Performance Center at Genpact. “In addition, due to the automation with the TurnKey product, and Genpact’s methodology and experience in application testing, total testing accuracy and frequency can significantly be improved over purely manual techniques.”

Both companies will be exhibiting and showcasing their solutions at Oracle OpenWorld from October 22-26 at Moscone Center West in San Francisco. Learn more about the joint offering during the Genpact/TurnKey theatre presentations, titled “Pre-built Oracle Testing Scripts: Jumpstart Your Mercury Testing & Monitoring” at Genpact’s booth #3430.
